Organization History (1917-1994)

The Kentucky High School Athletic Association (KHSAA) was organized in Louisville in April 1917, when a small group of male educational leaders met by appointment during the annual meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association to discuss the regulation of inter_high school athletic contests. The writing of a constitution and by_laws was left to the organization's governing body, to be known as the Board of Control. The original board consisted of President Moses E. Ligon, principal of Lexington High School, W.O. Hopper of Mt. Sterling and John H. Way of Carrollton. The Board's initial meeting on September 22, 1917, established the KHSAA's purpose__to purify athletics and codify basic rules of player eligibility and athletic conduct. Although the Association's Secretary, John H. Way, in his first letter to high school principals, declared that high schools had long felt the need for the influence of such an association, only eighteen schools were sufficiently interested to join it. Charter members were: Frankfort, Louisville Male, Owensboro, Carrollton, Lexington High School, Carlisle, Anderson County, Monticello, Somerset, Ashland, Stanford, Paris, LaGrange, Morganfield, Danville, Clark County, Cynthiana, and Covington.

Enthusiasm for membership in the Association was slow to develop. By 1918 only twenty_one schools had paid their $1.50 annual dues. During the 1920s and 1930s high school sports achieved greater popularity, which in turn led to rapid growth for the KHSAA. The Association grew in part because it continued to adhere to its original purpose of developing and regulating high school athletics by the adoption of uniform rules of player eligibility and by making the school's principal responsible for their observance. Other contributing factors included the improvement of the status of the coach, and the promotion of boys and girls post_season championship tournaments in basketball.

To be eligible for KHSAA membership, a school was required to be listed in the Kentucky Public School Directory. By 1938 over 600 schools had joined the Association, and the KHSAA's authority to impose penalties and sanctions against member schools violating rules and regulations had been upheld by the Kentucky Court of Appeals. In addition to determining player eligibility, the organization performed many other functions, such as determining tournament sites, managing the state high school championships, establishing rules and regulations of competition, controlling game officials sanctioning All_Star and out of state games, resolving scheduling conflicts, investigating player and crowd misconduct, and administering the Player's Protection Fund which paid claims to injured athletes.

From its inception in 1918, the Boys State Basketball Tournament has been the Association's major source of revenue. The initial tournament was held at Centre College in Danville. It moved to Lexington and the University of Kentucky's Alumni Gymnasium in 1919 and remained there until 1941 when it moved to the Louisville Armory which had a larger seating capacity. The KHSAA did not begin to make significant revenue until the late 1930s when increased attendance made the Sweet Sixteen tournament one of the premiere sporting events in Kentucky. This attendance, coupled with increased revenue from radio broadcasting rights, assured the financial success of the Association. From the 1940s on, the boys tournament site has been located either in Louisville or Lexington. The girls basketball tournament began in 1921 and continued until 1932 when basketball was abandoned as a high school sport. The tournament was re-instituted in 1975. Other sport championships were gradually added to the KHSAA's sanctioned list of athletic contests, which presently includes 29 championships in twelve sports.

The Association's structure also changed through the years in part as a response to various changes which have occurred within society. In 1935, the Board of Control's membership increased to five. Four years later, another person was added. In 1937, a delegate assembly of school representation was established. Instead of each member school sending a voting member to the annual meeting (always held in Louisville to coincide with the meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association), sixty-four districts were established in the state with each member school allowed to vote for a delegate from the district to attend the annual meeting.

Until 1947 the Association's chief administrative officer had been the President, who was selected every year. Only four men, with M.S. Ligon and W.F. O'Donnell of Carrollton having the longest tenure, served as president prior to the beginning of World War II. The war seriously interrupted high school sports scheduling due to the rationing of gasoline and the inability of schools to acquire buses for team transportation. Shortly after the end of the war, the Board of Control voted to hire a full time commissioner to oversee all the Association's activities. Longtime board member Theodore A. Sanford of Henderson was selected. Under Sanford's direction, the Association grew and prospered, with revenues from the boys basketball tournament showing a substantial increase. Sanford negotiated the KHSAA's television contract for the 1955 boys basketball tournament, and during his tenure, the Association moved to its first permanent location on Rose Street in Lexington. Additionally, the integration of all black high schools into the KHSAA in the late 1950s occurred during his presidency. Sanford retired in 1972 and was replaced by his longtime assistant Joe Bill Mansfield, who was succeeded by Tom Mills in 1976.

The 1970s saw the KHSAA continue to prosper and experience many other significant changes. In response to a federal court order in 1971, the Association added a black assistant commissioner (Louis Stout) in 1972, as well as two black members to the Board of Control. In 1976 the organization's first female assistant commissioner, Diane Caines, was selected, following the return of the Girls State Basketball Tournament in 1975. The composition of the Board of Control has changed to its current total of twelve members, two of which must be black and two of which must be female. Another significant change to the KHSAA's structure was the passage of SB60 by the 1978 Kentucky General Assembly, which placed control of interscholastic athletics under the Kentucky Department of Education. The Education Department has delegated authority to the KHSAA to manage athletics and is only involved in the appeals procedure. In response to dwindling attendance at the boy's basketball tournament in Louisville in the early 1970s, the Association moved the championship to Rupp Arena in Lexington for several years. Attendance, as well as revenue, increased dramatically.

Under the direction of Commissioner Tom Mills, the Association continued to grow with the addition of championships in soccer and softball, the continued growth of both boys and girls basketball tournaments, and the inception of a program to help with drug and substance abuse. In 1991,

Commissioner Mills retired and was replaced by assistant commissioner Billy Wise. In 1992, the KHSAA moved into its new headquarters on Executive Drive in Lexington. When Wise retired in 1994, the KHSAA's first black commissioner, Louis Stout, was selected.

Series Descriptions

Audio Visual Series

The Audio_Visual Series consists of 16mm films, Beta tapes, ½" VHS tapes, and ¾" U_matic video tapes of KHSAA sponsored championship athletic contests. The majority of the films and tapes are of boys and girls Sweet Sixteen basketball final games and the football championship games.

Board of Control Series

Note: The Board of Control Series is in the process of being reorganized.

The Board of Control Series consists of correspondence, meeting minutes, and subject files. The Board of Control, which is the governing body of the KHSAA, as well as the KHSAA President (replaced in 1947 by the Commissioner) deal with a variety of administrative matters. Correspondence covers such topics as applications for membership, by-laws, the eligibility of players, questions of illegal use of athletes, and general office and financial matters. Kentucky politics is also discussed, especially when KHSAA President W.F. O'Donnell campaigned for Governor Keen Johnson in 1939 . Meeting minutes of the Board of Control document official actions taken by the board, and since the fall of 1957, all board minutes have been published in The Athlete. The subject files cover various topics, such as black athletics in Kentucky under the Bluegrass High School Athletic Association, redistricting for boys basketball, the National Federation of High School Athletics Association, and trophies.

Newspaper Clippings Series

The Newspaper Clippings Series consists of original and photocopied clippings covering the years 1930_1994. The Lexington Herald Leader is the primary source of most clippings, with many in the later years coming from the Louisville Courier Journal.

Photograph Series

The Photograph Series contains the official photographs of the Boys State Basketball Tournament taken by the photographers of the Lexington Herald Leader between 1952_1955. Also included are photographs of KHSAA office staff and official functions.

Publication Series

The official publications of the Kentucky High School Athletic Association are included in this series. The four main publications include: 1) The Athlete, which is designated the official organ of the KHSAA, and contains minutes of meetings, financial transactions of the association, ratings of officials, and sports information; 2) Constitution, By_laws and Tournament Rules; 3) Directory of Member Schools, which also includes statistics of past KHSAA championship tournament winners; and 4) State Tournament Programs, which are the official guides to the championship tournaments and games.

Schools Series

The Schools Series contains team eligibility lists and correspondence between the KHSAA office and the member schools. A typical eligibility list will include personal information, such as a player's date of birth, city, county, and/or state of birth, and number of semesters in high school. The correspondence covers such topics as eligibility of players, problems that occurred at games, player or team sanctions, and contract disputes. The eligibility conflicts discuss the 21_year_old rule, the preceding_semester rule, transfers, passing the minimum number of academic credit hours, and being eligible as a war veteran. There is a slight break in the records during World War II, and many new sports appear after the war. Black high school records appear in the mid-1950s when they joined the KHSAA. Girls teams are mentioned between 1927 and 1932, and do not reappear until the mid-1960s.

Tournament Series

The Tournament Series documents the history of district, regional, and state tournaments. Materials cover administrative topics, such as voting for tournament sponsors, sites, and All-Tournament teams, financial reports for tournaments, assignment of tournament managers, payment of traveling expenses by the KHSAA, and tournament eligibility lists. Also included are tournament results and score books.
